Woodshop keeps former Seattleite busy

Originally from Seattle, Yon Gardner, 68, moved to Eugene 12 years ago to escape life in a big city. He has been using Campbell Center for five years and enjoys the sociability factor it has to offer. The two main services Yon uses at Campbell are the computer room and woodshop.

Of the woodshop, he says, “one of my goals has been to make all of my own furniture.” And he achieved it! He made all of the furniture in his house at the Campbell Center woodshop. He has also made his own picture frames and cooking utensils. Yon describes working with wood as his “creative outlet.”

Campbell Center is offering two classes this fall – one specifically for women – to learn how to use the woodshop. To learn more about this and other activities Campbell Center activities, call 541-682-5318.
